Description

Provide a short description of the event and its activities.

During the second event of the REcup Project, held from March 6th to 8th, 2024, in Soriano nel Cimino, Italy, participants gathered to discuss the active involvement of unemployed citizens in European policy formation. The event brought together representatives from various organizations, including unemployed individuals, stakeholders and educational institutions, as well as citizens' groups.

On the first day, participants arrived and were welcomed at the town hall with greetings from local officials. The day continued with a visit to the historic Orsini Castle, offering a glimpse into the town's rich heritage, and concluded with a dinner that allowed attendees to network and prepare for the following day's discussions.

The second day began with welcoming remarks from the municipality administration, followed by a workshop focused on the civic and democratic participation of unemployed citizens. Representatives from various European organizations, including those from Romania, Malta, Greece, Croatia, Slovenia, and Spain, delivered short presentations on the project's theme. After a coffee break, the workshop continued with further discussions, deepening the participants' understanding of the issues at hand. In the afternoon, local stakeholders and experts joined the group for a meeting, where they engaged in talks and debates on the project themes. Key themes included barriers to political engagement, lack of representation in policy discussions, and the need for inclusive platforms that amplify their voices in decision-making processes. Presentations from project partners highlighted best practices from different European regions, showcasing initiatives that have successfully promoted active citizenship among the unemployed.

The day ended with dinner, following some free time for participants to explore the area or rest.

On the final day, participants were treated to a guided tour of Soriano nel Cimino, exploring its cultural and historical landmarks. After a lunch together, the event concluded with final greetings, and participants departed, having shared valuable insights and forged connections to enhance civic participation among unemployed citizens across Europe.

The REcup Study Experts Meeting in Soriano nel Cimino successfully fostered dialogue on the civic participation of unemployed citizens in European policy-making. Through workshops and debates, participants explored barriers, policy solutions, and best practices to enhance engagement. The event strengthened collaboration between stakeholders and reinforced the project's commitment to inclusive democratic participation for unemployed citizens.
